Consequences of the revocation

If you revoke this contract, we are to refund all payments we received from you including any delivery cost (with the exception of additional charges resulting from you having chosen a delivery form different from the cheapest standard delivery offered by us) instantly and latest within fourteen days from the date we receive the notification of your revocation of the contract. For this refund we shall use the same method of payment you chose for the primary transaction, unless otherwise expressly agreed; there will not be any fees charged for the refund in any case.

If you requested the provision of our services to start during the revocation period, you are to pay an appropriate service fee. This service fee relates to the value of the services already provided up to the date, when you notified us of the execution of your right to revoke your contract, in relation to the full value of the services agreed in the contract.
